Benchmark Exploring Reliability and Validity Grading Rubric | COSC622_B01_202340

Criteria	Ratings				Points
Content	14 to >12 pts Advanced The types of reliability and validity are clearly explained. Support from reading is included.	12 to >8 pts Proficient The types of reliability and validity are reasonably explained. Support from reading is mostly included.	8 to >0 pts Developing The types of reliability and validity are minimally addressed. Limited or no support from reading.	0 pts Not Present	14 pts
Content	14 to >12 pts Advanced The proper category of low, acceptable, and high ranges of alpha coefficients are clearly identified. The number of scales in each category is stated. Conclusions drawn, based on the number of scales with low, acceptable, and high alpha coefficients, are included.	12 to >8 pts Proficient The proper category of low, acceptable, and high ranges of alpha coefficients are reasonably identified. The number of scales in each category is mostly stated. Conclusion drawn, based on the number of scales with low, acceptable, and high alpha coefficients are mostly included.	8 to >0 pts Developing The proper category of low, acceptable, and high ranges of alpha coefficients are minimally addressed. The number of scales in each category is not clearly stated. Conclusion drawn, based on the number of scales with low, acceptable, and high alpha coefficients, are not clearly addressed.	0 pts Not Present	14 pts
Content	14 to >12 pts Advanced Comparison between the VMQ population and the populations of the tests used to evaluate validity is clearly stated. Issues raised when evaluating validity based on the population traits of coefficients are included.	12 to >8 pts Proficient Comparison between the VMQ population and the populations of the tests used to evaluate validity is reasonably stated. Issues raised when evaluating validity based on the population traits of coefficients are mostly included.	8 to >0 pts Developing Comparison between the VMQ population and the populations of the tests used to evaluate validity is minimally addressed. Issues raised when evaluating validity based on the population traits of coefficients are not clearly stated.	0 pts Not Present	14 pts
Content	14 to >12 pts Advanced How sample size and nature of population may influence the constructs purportedly measured by the test is clearly articulated. Strengths and weaknesses in these areas are included.	12 to >8 pts Proficient How sample size and nature of population may influence the constructs purportedly measured by the test is reasonably articulated. Strengths and weaknesses in these areas are mostly included.	8 to >0 pts Developing How sample size and nature of population may influence the constructs purportedly measured by the test is minimally articulated. Strengths and weaknesses in these areas are not clearly stated.	0 pts Not Present	14 pts
